Many remains found in Bhojshala survey

Survey being conducted using scientific method

Chronicle Reporter, Dhar

Survey is going on in Bhojshala using scientific methods. As part of the survey, ASI officers and employees entered the Bhojshala on the 37th day. On Saturday, the team members worked throughout the day in the Dargah area, including the entire complex.

The work is going on in the presence of 22 officers, 37 laborers and parties in the ASI team. Many remains have also been found during the survey, which have been preserved by the team after examining them through various techniques. Also, during this period, Hindu parties and Muslim parties have also made many claims regarding the survey. On the first day, the shape of a wall was visible in the soil being removed in front of the sanctum sanctorum in the last two days, whereas on Friday a fragmented statue was seen.

There should be no damage to the monument

At the same time, Muslim party

Abdul Samad Khan said that despite our objection, the excavation is being done in the monument on Friday. From there, only the face of the upper part of a statue is visible, which is clearly visible that it is the statue of Mahatma Gautam Buddha. Photography and videography has also been done by the team. Along with this, brushing and cleaning work is going on continuously in Kamal Maulana Dargah. Regarding the hearing in Indore High Court on April 29, he said that our lawyer will argue in that case and if the time of the survey increases, then it will become clear under what circumstances and under which guide line it will proceed.

Now, you can buy unreserved tickets from any station through a mobile app

Outer border geo-fencing distance restriction removed

Chronicle Reporter, Bhopal

In view of the convenience of passengers, the restriction of outer limit geo-fencing distance for journey ticket and platform ticket in UTS on mobile app has been abolished with immediate effect.

Senior Divisional Commercial Manager Saurabh Kataria said that now railway users can book unreserved tickets and platform tickets for any station from any station of Indian Railways sitting at home, while the internal limit of geo fencing remains unchanged i.e. only within the station premises.

Ticket booking will be allowed from outside only. Currently, this outer limit geo-fencing distance restriction was 50 km, that is, any passenger could book an unreserved ticket or platform ticket for travel from a station located within a radius of 50 km from the location of his mobile, but now this restriction has been removed. For the convenience of passengers traveling on unreserved tickets, Indian Railways is providing the facility of booking unreserved tickets through smart phones with internet connection.
