Raj, despite calling her 'Didi,' was very close to Sonam

- New picture from Mangal City, said to be a year old emerged
- Shillong police possess evidence of an intimate relationship

Indore: As the investigation into the high-profile Raja Raghuvanshi murder case progresses, daily new revelations are surfacing. It has now come to light that the relationship between Sonam and her associate, Raj, was far from purely professional; they shared an exceptionally close bond. Shillong police reportedly possess clear evidence of their intimate relationship. This comes as a year-old photograph, believed to be from Mangal City, has recently emerged.

Instagram photos and office closeness hint at deeper relationship

Sources indicate a photograph of Raj and Sonam taken in the parking lot of Mangal City Mall has surfaced. This location is significant as it's where Sonam's brother Govind's firm is also located. Reportedly, Sonam posted this photo on her Instagram account, 'Biti Raghuvanshi,' last Diwali, showing her in a saree and Raj in a kurta. Despite Raj addressing Sonam as "Didi" (elder sister), police sources reveal that digital and other evidence found in Shillong confirms a relationship that transcended a typical professional or familial bond.

Raj's special status: More than just an employee

While Sonam served as the HR Manager at her brother Govind's firm and Raj handled the accounts section, Raj received notably more attention from Sonam compared to other employees. Their connection extended beyond the office walls, with Raj even assisting with household chores for the Raghuvanshi family.

Sources suggest that Raj frequently drove family members around when Govind was absent. Govind himself had noticed their closeness. He had even checked the office CCTV cameras once, where he saw Raj referring to Sonam as "Didi." At the time, Govind didn't suspect anything amiss. However, with both Sonam and Raj now arrested for Raja's murder, the family has begun to grasp the true nature of their relationship. After the extent of Sonam and Raj's alleged conspiracy came to light post-marriage, Govind reportedly contacted the police and called Sonam's home to inquire about his brother, gradually unraveling the layers of this deep relationship and the alleged conspiracy.

Farmers' unity forces government's hand

MP to procure Moong at MSP: Jitu Patwari

Bhopal: Madhya Pradesh Congress President Shri Jitu Patwari today hailed the state government's announcement to procure moong at Minimum Support Price (MSP) as a victory for farmers' unity and awareness. He congratulated farmers, stating, "You stood united and raised your voice, forcing the government to act."

From 'Poison' to procurement: A political u-turn

Patwari sharply criticized Chief Minister Mohan Yadav, recalling how the CM had previously dismissed moong as "poison" and even refused to commit to procurement, citing the state government's inability. "But when farmers across the state rose in unison, raised their voices, and threatened protests on the ground, only then did the government wake up."

For the first time in 19 months, Chief Minister Mohan Yadav appeared to be a sensitive individual," Patwari asserted. "We thank the Chief Minister for finally understanding the farmers' pain, even if it's late. But this gratitude is solely due to the strength of the farmers, not because of the government," Patwari emphasized.

The fight continues: Unfulfilled promises for farmers

Patwari stressed that the battle for farmers isn't over. "What happened to the promise of Rs 2700 per quintal for wheat? What about Rs 6000 for soybeans? What about Rs 3100 per quintal for paddy? All these promises remain unfulfilled, and we stand against every deception inflicted upon farmers."

He affirmed his identity as a farmer's son, stating that he feels the same joy as a farmer when crop prices rise. "I am not a leader who politicizes inflation; rather, I am a public representative who will fight for farmers on every platform."

Patwari concluded by stating that in the coming days, the Congress will continue to champion farmers' rights and hold the government accountable on all fronts.

Union Minister Virendra Khatik flouts traffic rules in Pachmarhi

Helmetless bike ride goes viral

Bhopal: While the government and police continue to urge citizens to follow traffic rules, what happens when those very rules are broken by the lawmakers themselves?

Union Minister and Tikamgarh MP Virendra Khatik has landed in controversy after a video of him riding pillion on a motorcycle—without a helmet—went viral on social media. The incident occurred in Pachmarhi, Narmadapuram district, where Khatik had arrived to attend a BJP training camp.

According to reports, the training event was set to be inaugurated by Union Home Minister Amit Shah. However, several MPs and MLAs, including Khatik, had already reached the venue a day earlier. With some time on his hands before the formal proceedings, the minister decided to explore the scenic surroundings.

He asked a BJP worker to bring a motorcycle, hopped on the back seat, and took off for a ride through the picturesque hills of Pachmarhi. What caught everyone's attention—and drew criticism—was that neither the minister nor the rider was wearing a helmet.

This isn't the first time Minister Khatik has been seen disregarding traffic norms. In a recent instance amid escalating tensions between India and Pakistan, he was spotted riding a bike in Tikamgarh without a helmet.

The latest video has sparked debate online, with many questioning the double standards of public figures that advocate for law and order while violating basic safety rules themselves.
