Envision Energy India receives approval under RLMM for EN 182/5MW turbine model

Envision Energy India received EN-182/5.0 50 Hz TC on May 28, 2025. The new EN-182/5.0 MW turbine is equipped with a 181 m rotor diameter, 105.56 m hub height and 89 m blackbody with tubular steel tower. It has received the IEC 61400- 22:2010 type certificate from DNV, valid until 16th April, 2026. Envision Energy has booked 2 GW orders for the EN-182/5.0 MW platform from its IPP customers, with delivery starting in Q3 2025. Both the blade manufacturing facility at Charapasli and the Nacelle & Hub plant at Pune are fully ready to deliver these machines to our customers. It is mandatory for any OEM to obtain RLMM approval from the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) to sell wind turbines in India. This new platform increases Annual Energy Generation (AEP) by more than 40% over the existing EN 156/3.3MW platform, providing significant benefits to customers. This platform, with larger swept area and increased turbine operating temperature up to 50°C, is a testament to Envision's technical capabilities.
