

Sanjay Dutt is angry with Lokesh Kanagaraj for not giving him a bigger role in Thalapathy Vijay's Leo Sanjay Dutt was recently spotted at a teaser event for his upcoming Kannada movie KD - The Devil, starring Dhruva Sarja. During an interaction with media people, Sanjay Dutt revealed how he is angry at Lokesh Kanagaraj for not giving him a bigger role in Thalapathy Vijay's Leo.

Why is Sanjay Dutt angry at Lokesh Kanagaraj? Speaking in detail, Sanjay Dutt said, "I worked with Thalapathy Vijay and I loved working with him. However, I am angry with Lokesh because he didn't give me a big role. He wasted me."

Apart from talking about his role in Leo, Sanjay Dutt was seen praising other Tamil superstars, including Rajinikanth, Kamal Haasan, and Ajith Kumar.

The KGF 2 actor said, "Rajini sir and Kamal sir, I respect them a lot. They are my seniors, I look up to them, and I learn from them. I worked with Rajini sir in Hindi movies multiple times, and he is such a humble person." He underlined how he shares a close camaraderie with Ajith Kumar as well.

Moreover, Sanjay Dutt also made it clear how he is looking forward to seeing Rajinikanth starrer Coolie and will soon watch Kamal Haasan's Thug Life.

About Leo, Talking about Leo, the Tamil-language action thriller starring Thalapathy Vijay in the lead role, was released on October 19, 2023. The film, partially inspired by the American actioner A History of Violence, featured the tale of Parthiban, a middle-aged coffee shop owner who lives with his wife and children.

After a fateful day at his shop, the man is put into the headlines for a self-defense crime, only for new problems to arise.

As he shares an appearance with a former gangster, Leo, adversaries come into his life, hoping to make him return to the crime world. Whether Parthiban is truly Leo and what happens to his family in the rest of the story. As Vijay played the leading role, Sanjay Dutt appeared as his father, Antony Das.

Moving ahead, the film also had actors like Arjun Sarja, Trisha, Gautham Vasudev Menon, Mysskin, Madonna Sebastian, George Maryan, and many more in key roles. Leo is currently available for streaming on Netflix.

Siddhant Chaturvedi Steals the Spotlight with His Emotionally Charged Avatar in Dhadak 2

The trailer of Dhadak 2 is out, and it belongs entirely to Siddhant Chaturvedi. In what is being touted as his most emotionally charged performance yet, Siddhant brings a searing vulnerability and quiet power to a character torn between love and legacy. In a film that promises intensity, vulnerability, and an unflinching gaze at heartbreak, Siddhant doesn't just play Neelesh - he becomes him. With raw eyes, quiet rage, and a haunting restraint, Siddhant crafts a character so layered and real, it feels like you've lived his pain.

What makes Siddhant's portrayal of Neelesh in Dhadak 2 truly unmissable is the emotional excavation he brings to the role. He doesn't just act - he surrenders. Every flicker in his eyes, every pause in his voice, feels lived-in and deeply personal, as if he's channelling a pain that's his own. From moments of aching silence to explosive vulnerability, Siddhant internalises Neelesh's heartbreak and helplessness, dissolving the line between performance and presence. The Dhadak 2 trailer speaks of an actor who stays in character between takes, isolating himself to understand Neelesh's loneliness and carrying emotional residue home after each scene. It's this intensity that radiates through the screen - a portrayal so real, that it bruises all our hearts. Siddhant doesn't just invite the audience into Neelesh's world, he makes them feel every fracture, every hesitation, and every hope that flickers beneath the surface.

Stepping into a role that demands intensity and restraint in equal measure, Siddhant delivers a performance that is raw, rooted, and deeply affecting. Every frame in the trailer reflects his emotional arc from passionate love to heartbreak, rebellion to restraint without a single false note.

Opposite him, Triptii Dimri brings strength and silence to her role, and together, the two ignite the screen with a chemistry that is equal parts tender and turbulent. Their bond feels lived-in and real, adding layers to a story that is far more than just romance.

Sanjay Leela Bhansali gears up to shoot a big face-off between Ranbir Kapoor and Vicky Kaushal in Love And War

In &TV's Happu Ki Ultan Paltan andBhabiji Ghar Par Hai characters will find themselves in amusing situations. AboutHappu Ki Ultan Paltan's upcoming track, Daroga Happu Singh aka Yogesh Tripathi shares,"Rajesh (Geetanjali Mishra) and Happu are deeply concerned about their daughter Malaika's (Sonali Panwar) future. They urge her to either find a suitable match herself or allow them to take the lead in finding one for her. While heading to the police station, fate intervenes when Malaika helps a young man in need. The boy is instantly smitten, and Malaika, too, finds him decent. They begin talking, and a bond starts to form. Eventually, as the pressure to get married resurfaces, Malaika decides to tell the family about him. Soon, the boy's family visits our home, and everyone is quite impressed. But then comes an unexpected twist as the boy's father puts forth three strange conditions before agreeing to the match. First, Happu must walk on a tightrope. Second, spend a night alone in a graveyard. And third, make tea for everyone. With his usual jugaadu style, Happu somehow manage to complete the first two challenges. But just as he is about to finish the third, his shortcut while making tea gets exposed! The boy's father catches him red-handed and starts lecturing on honesty and values, which upsets Malaika deeply. She feels she shouldn't have to go through such ordeals because of her and emotionally decides to call off the alliance. Will Happu and Rajesh support her decision? About &TV's Bhabiji Ghar Par Hai's upcoming track, Manmohan Tiwari aka Rohitashv Gour shares, "Anita (Vidisha Srivastava) completes a psychology course and is on the lookout for someone she can practice her therapy techniques on. Meanwhile, Tiwari (Rohitashv Gour) visits a hotel to meet a client, where an exposed nail on a chair accidentally pricks him. Despite being in pain, he tries his best to hide it and continue the meeting. Coincidentally, a film director seated at a nearby table observes Tiwari's expressions and is thoroughly impressed.
