“No deal until a deal”: Trump, Putin end talks with no results

Alaska/ New Delhi (UNI) US President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin held a “very productive” summit in Alaska, aimed at finding a way to end the ongoing war in Ukraine which began on February 24, 2022. Despite the positive tone of the discussions, no formal agreement was reached during the meeting.

Trump made it clear that “there is no deal until there is a deal,” maintaining that he and Russian President Vladimir Putin made “great progress” but did not emerge from today’s summit with an deal on the war in Ukraine.

Putin, who has demanded full control of four Russian-occupied regions in Ukraine, and Trump, who reportedly agreed to a framework involving land swaps and US-backed security guarantees, still face significant hurdles in finalizing an agreement.

Trump agreed that “big” issues remain unsettled, notably the territorial concessions Putin seeks and the terms for a ceasefire that are important to be agreed during the negotiations. While both leaders agreed on many points, the ‘most difficult parts of the negotiations were left unresolved’.

Trump emphasized that there was still a “very good chance” of reaching a deal, even though no immediate resolution was achieved.

“I will call up NATO in a little while. I will call up the various people that I think are appropriate. And I’ll, of course, call up President Zelensky and tell him about today’s meeting. It’s ultimately up to them,” Trump said after today’s summit in Anchorage, Alaska.

“We had an extremely productive meeting, and many points were agreed to,” Trump said, adding, “We didn’t get there, but we have a very good chance of getting there.”

Bhopal: The Madhya Pradesh Congress Committee has announced a significant organizational overhaul, appointing new presidents for 71 district and city units as part of its “Sangathan Srijan Abhiyan” (Organization Building Campaign). New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will inaugurate two significant national highway infrastructure projects in the National Capital Region tomorrow.

The projects, the Delhi section of the Dwarka expressway and a key stretch of the Urban Extension Road-II (UER-II) have been developed at a cumulative cost of about Rs 11,000 crore.

The expressway will offer seamless connectivity to the India international convention and expo centre (Yashobhoomi), DMRC’s blue and orange lines, the upcoming Bijwasan railway station, and the Dwarka bus depot cluster.

The stretch comprises two packages, including 5.9 km from Shiv Murti intersection to the Road Under Bridge (RUB) at Dwarka Sector-21 and under package II, 4.2 km from Sector-21 to the Delhi-Haryana border, connecting directly to UER-II.
