Kolkata (UNI)

Buoyed by its decisive victory in the recent Bihar Assembly elections, the BJP's central leadership is gearing up for an aggressive, high-profile campaign in West Bengal from next month ahead of the 2026 Assembly polls, featuring both Prime Minister Narendra Modi and union Home Minister Amit Shah.

According to party sources, the initial plan includes two mega public rallies every month until the Election Commission announces poll dates. One rally will be addressed by the Prime Minister, the other by the Home Minister.

"Once the poll dates are declared, the frequency of these public meetings will increase. Our state president, Samik Bhattacharya, will be in Delhi this week to finalise the tentative dates and venues. The effort will be to choose locations that can simultaneously cover more than one district," a senior BJP state committee member told UNI on condition of anonymity.

The party plans to roll out its campaign in phases across the BJP's five organisational zones in West Bengal.

According to sources in the party, the Bengal unit has already approached the local administration seeking permission to hold a rally in Arambagh, Hooghly district, on either December 13 or 14.

DKS & I bound by high command on leadership issue: CM

Chikkaballapur (Shidlaghatta) (UNI)

Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday made it clear that both he and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar are bound by whatever decision the Congress high command takes on the issue of power sharing in Karnataka.

Responding to media questions on whether the leadership change formula would come into effect mid-term, Siddaramaiah said, "whatever the high command decides, both DK Shivakumar and I must accept. When the high command met five months ago, they had suggested a cabinet reshuffle. I had said we could take it up after completing two and a half years. Now we will go by whatever instructions they give."

Turning to the BJP's criticism of the government's finances, the Chief Minister attacked the opposition for spreading "baseless lies". "The BJP says the government has no money. If that is so, can development works worth 2,000 crore rupees be carried out without funds?" he asked.

He said development works were underway across all districts of Karnataka, including Chikkaballapur, where he laid foundation stones and inaugurated several projects on Saturday.

"The BJP is engaged in a misinformation campaign. They have nothing to offer except lies — lies are their family deity," he remarked.

Siddaramaiah asserted that the government had honoured its commitments.

"More than one lakh crore rupees have been spent on guarantee schemes. We had said ours is a government that acts as it promises — and we have done exactly that," he said.

Govt prioritises ensuring justice for every person: Keshav Maurya

Lucknow (UNI)

Uttar Pradesh Deputy Chief Minister Keshav Prasad Maurya stated on Monday that providing justice to every individual is the government's top priority and no laxity in resolving public issues will be tolerated.

The Deputy CM was listening to the grievances of hundreds of complainants from various districts of the state during the Janta Darshan held at his camp office in Lucknow during which he issued clear directives to the concerned officials for their prompt and effective resolution.

Most of the cases presented before the Deputy CM concerned land disputes, revenue issues, medical assistance, pensions, housing, police-administrative action, electricity, water, roads, education and employment. He directed officials to ensure timely and satisfactory resolution of all cases and, where necessary, to conduct on-site inspections.

Jharkhand Minister's 'Lock BLO inside' sparks row; but says he meant to protect BLOs

Ranchi (UNI)

Jharkhand Health Minister Irfan Ansari has triggered a fresh political row with his remarks on the Election Commission's proposed Special Intensive Revision (SIR) process. His statement advising people to "lock the BLO inside the house" if a Booth Level Officer (BLO) visits has drawn criticism from several quarters.

Ansari told UNI his warning was aimed at safeguarding vulnerable families who lack essential documents. Ansari said that a large number of Adivasi, Dalit and economically weak households do not possess land papers, Aadhaar cards or other identity documents.

According to him, such communities face the highest risk of exclusion during SIR-related verification. "People in rural areas don't always have documents. If they are called repeatedly and still can't produce papers, getting their names added back becomes difficult. They may end up cut off from key services," he said. The Minister also clarified his controversial line on locking BLOs inside a house. He said the comment had been taken out of context and that he was referring to the stress and pressure faced by field officers.

Ansari accused the BJP of using revision exercises in other states to target certain communities. He claimed that in Bihar "65 lakh names were removed and 22 lakh new names were added," raising concerns about identity and citizenship for large groups of people.

personal growth through teamwork, coordination, and consistent upskilling. He further advised the veteran officers to embrace a "student mindset" to maximize their learning during the training.

Earlier in the session, Rizwan Ud-

If the Prime Minister's Office clears the proposal, the Arambagh rally will effectively kick-start the BJP's Assembly election campaign.

Amit Shah is expected to visit the state towards the end of December, with a possible Kolkata meeting after December 19 to review organisational preparations and guide the state unit on poll strategy.

Bilding on by back-to-back victories in Odisha (2024) and Bihar (2025), the BJP has sharpened its slogan: "After Odisha in 2024 and Bihar in 2025, it will be Bengal in 2026."

Political observers say the early mobilisation of both Modi and Shah underscores that the slogan is not mere rhetoric but a reflection of how seriously the central leadership views the Bengal battle. Alongside physical rallies, the BJP's Bengal unit is also placing significant emphasis on digital mobilisation.
